

Privacy Notice and Website Disclaimer

CarePath is committed to safeguarding the privacy and confidentiality of all individuals who interact with our services. This website is designed for informational purposes only and does not require the collection of personally identifiable information to access its content. CarePath does not collect personal health information (PHI) through this website unless such information is voluntarily submitted by the user through secure and authorized communication channels.

CarePath does not sell, rent, share, or otherwise disclose personal information to third parties for marketing or commercial purposes. Any information voluntarily provided by users is used solely for the purpose of responding to inquiries or facilitating access to care, and is handled in accordance with applicable federal and state privacy laws, including the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act of 1996 (HIPAA), where applicable.

While CarePath makes reasonable efforts to protect the security of information transmitted through this website, users are advised that standard web-based communications (including email and contact method) may not be fully secure. Users should avoid submitting sensitive personal or health information through unsecured channels.

Use of this website does not establish a provider–patient relationship. If you are experiencing a medical or psychiatric emergency, please call 911 or proceed to the nearest emergency department, or contact the Suicide and Crisis Lifeline by dialing 988.

By accessing and using this website, you acknowledge and agree to the terms of this Privacy Notice and Website Disclaimer.
